Coast fishermen get disaster declaration

U.S. Congressman Trent Lott Wednesday confirmed that President Nixon had issued a major disaster declaration for fishermen in three Mississippi Gulf Coast counties.

Lott said the President signed the disaster declaration for fishermen in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties as a result of major floods in 1973 and '74. Fishermen have contended that the floods caused them a severe economic crisis, particularly in the shrimp and oyster industries.

"The floods, along with the opening of the Bonnet Carré spillway in New Orleans, caused the seafood industry such severe damage that fishermen along the Gulf Coast have been facing a disaster of proportions never before experienced," he stated.

Lott said that while he was not yet certain about the extent of the disaster assistance under the President's declaration, he is hopeful it will include a federal program of food stamps, workman's compensation and low interest, long term loans.

The declaration was signed the day after three Hancock County women had returned to Bay St. Louis from a two-day trip to Washington on behalf of the Coast fishermen.

Mrs. Cathy Holzhauser and Mrs. Joyce Garcia, both wives of commercial fishermen and in their own right fishermen, with Hancock county Chamber of Commerce manager Mrs. Sylvia McComiskey, flew to the nation's capitol Monday to appeal to President Nixon in person to approve Governor William Waller's request for a disaster declaration covering the seafood industry.

Monday morning, following a visit to the office of Senator Jim Eastland, the ladies met with Tom Korologos, assistant to the President, and Todd Hullin, associate director of the Domestic Council, which is an arm of the Executive Office of the President. The ladies were accompanied by Bill Simpson and David Lambert of Senator Eastland's staff.

Monday afternoon they visited the office of Senator John Stennis and discussed the situation with Congressman Trent Lott.

On Tuesday morning, at the White House, they met with Gene Ainsworth, assistant to the President. Later that afternoon, before returning by plane, they visited with Bill Crockett, deputy director of the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration. Additionally, contact was made with Richard McGraw, executive assistant to Secretary James Lynn of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Secretary Lynn will review Federal Disaster Assistance Administrator Tom Dunne's recommendation to President Nixon on the disaster declaration.

Pass joins utility protection plan

A system to protect underground utility lines from construction damage was outlined to the Pass Christian city council Tuesday night by James Welch, superintendent of the city water and sewerage department.

Welch asked the city to join other Harrison county Coast cities and telephone and utility companies in the system which will provide a central telephone contact for residents to call before performing any underground construction. A $245 per year fee for each member of the conglomerate will defray costs of the central telephone office, Welch said. Titled the Underground Utilities Coordinating Committee, the newly organized group has as member organizations the South Central Telephone Co., TV cable company, United Gas Co. and other agencies with underground lines.

The city joined the committee by unanimous motion of the board.

Police Chief Jerry Peralta's recommendation to the council for the dismissal of Ptn. Wilton Cuevas was discussed in an executive session and a motion for dismissal was accepted on the council's return. Chief Peralta quoted dereliction of duty as the primary cause of Cuevas' termination.

In other business, the board voted to advertise for bids for a half-ton pickup truck by request of Fire Chief George Mixon, who said the truck was needed to haul used hoses back to the station following a fire. There is no other vehicle available for this purpose, Mixon said.

In other police business, the board appointed Harold Henderson officially as a detective on the police roster. The appointment is effective March 1 and the salary was set at $450 per month.

In another appointment the council named Leo Cox as a full time harbor master, effective May 1, in line with a new harbor ordinance. Mayor Steve Saucier pointed out. Alderman Horace Necaise's motion for a salary of $500 a month for the harbor master was accepted by the council without discussion.

In an unrelated matter, the council accepted two dismissals and three resignations from city positions.

Dismissed from the city utility department effective May 3 were Emile Saucier and Arthur Henderson, Jr. The resignation of Jesse Cole was accepted effective the same date.

Texan arrested for marijuana

About six pounds of cured marijuana were confiscated by State Highway patrolmen Thursday from a Westlake, Texas man when the officers stopped the truck he was riding in on Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis.

Ptn. Mickey Ladner stopped the pickup truck for a traffic violation about 7 p.m. and discovered three men riding in the cab of a smaller truck in the back of the pickup. One of the men, Orlando Medrano, 20, was arrested for possession of marijuana with intent to sell or deliver when a search of the vehicle revealed the marijuana wrapped in three brown paper bags.

Medrano has been released under $5,000 bond pending a May 9 hearing before Justice of the Peace Roger Dale Ladner.

Ptn. Mickey Ladner was assisted by Highway Ptn. Hershel Ladner.

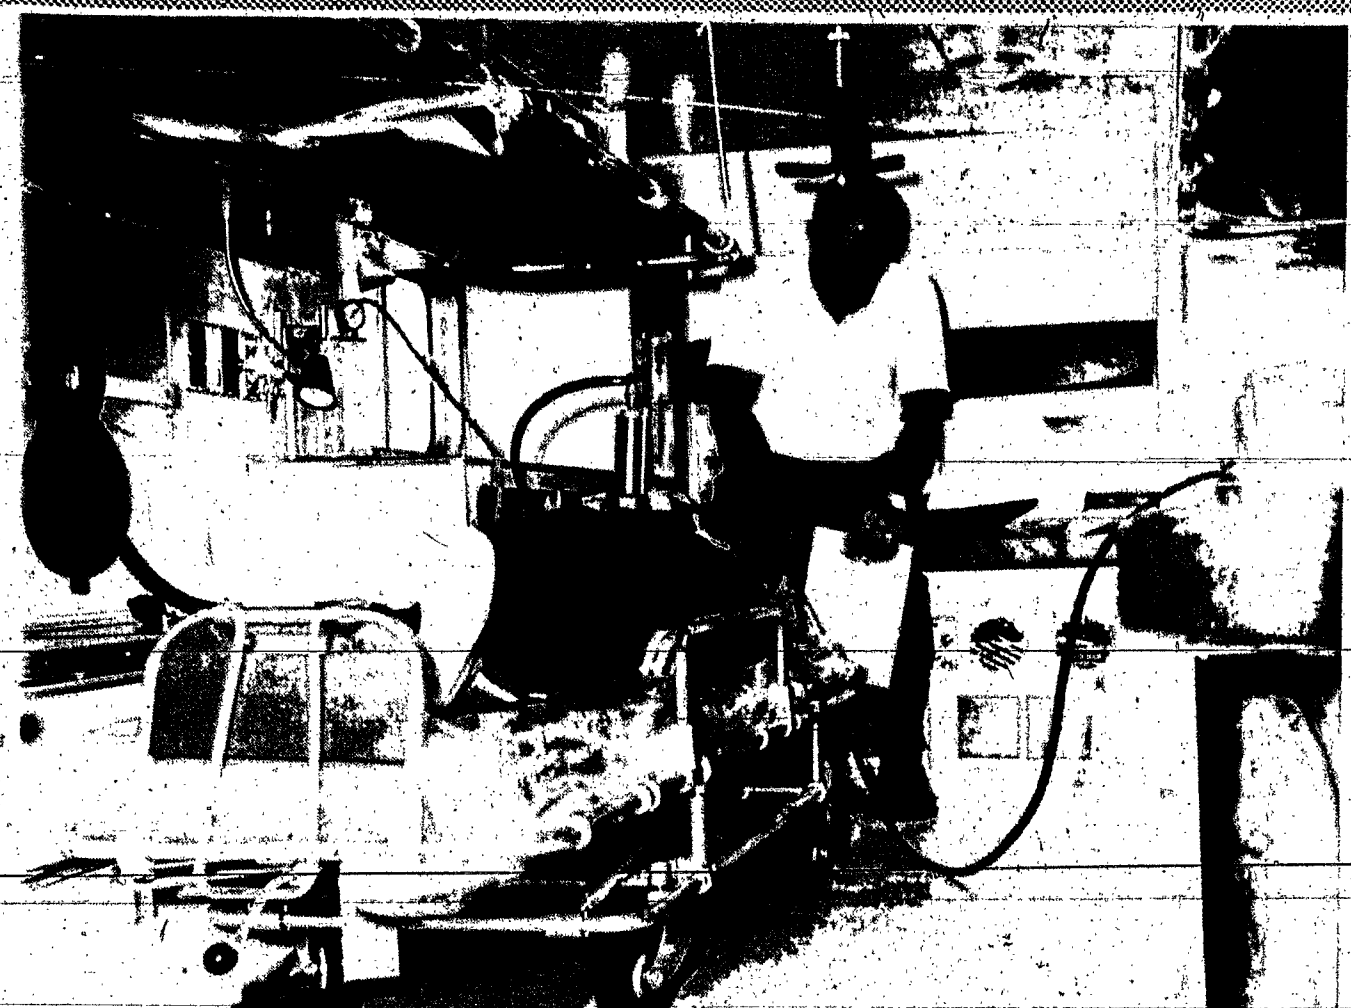

Chiniche wins disagreement over specifications' merits

Bay St. Louis utility commissioner Lucien Kidd last week labeled "erroneous" news accounts which quoted him as saying specifications furnished the city for street surfacing by former city engineer James Chiniche "were not specific enough."

Kidd said that he did not intend to give the impression that the plans submitted by Chiniche for the resurfacing of approximately 10 streets within the city were "inadequate" in any way.

"The plans are okay," Kidd said. "I don't mean that you can't go out there and build a road with these specifications. The specifications are good."

"What I did say," Kidd said, "was that the specifications did not contain Alderman Dan Camplon examined the inside of one of the ambulance units of Mobile Ambulance Service Tuesday night at Waveland City Hall. The display included a mock demonstration of a dummy being rendered life saving services from equipment within the $22,000 unit. The ambulance unit will also be on exhibit in Bay St. Louis Thursday night from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the American Legion Hall.

Subscription drive ready for private ambulance service

By Dan Barber

The last political hurdle seemed cleared Tuesday night as proponents of a private ambulance service for Hancock and West Harrison Counties gained endorsement of Waveland Mayor John Longo and board of aldermen.

Doug Burgin, president of Mobile Ambulance Service, said that his company had now received endorsements from the mayors and councils of every city from Gulfport to the Louisiana state line and expected to begin its membership drive June 3.

The next unknown now is whether the firm can solicit enough subscribers from both counties to meet the 15,160 patron figure that Burgin says is necessary for the venture to succeed. A minimum of 2,800 subscribers is needed from Hancock County, Burgin said, with another 12,360 needed from West Harrison County.

Burgin said that the firm would begin a six-week membership drive June 3 to test the willingness of people in the two counties to support such a service. He compared the service his firm is offering with a similar ambulance service in Lafayette Parish in Louisiana.

Both ambulance services are based on a membership basis though Burgin emphasized that the service is available to both members and non-members alike for any emergency situation.

"I want to emphasize that we are serving the public," he said.

For $15 per year, Burgin said, his firm would offer complete ambulance service to cover all emergency and doctor authorized transfers of any nature. The fee is the same on an individual or family basis and would cover both husband and wife and any children living at home under 21 years of age.

The same service, he said, would be available to non-members at the rate of $40 for transfer service and $45 for emergency calls.

Burgin initially said that service which took a patient beyond county lines would be computed on the basis of $.75 per mile for members and $1 per mile for non-members, but waived this cost for members in Hancock county taken to Gulfport when it was pointed out by alderman Ducre Bourgeois that most Hancock County emergencies are treated at Gulfport Memorial Hospital rather than Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis.

Burgin said that if successful the service would succeed not because of the economics involved but because of the service it offered.

"We can have all this beautiful electronic equipment, but without the properly trained personnel we wouldn't have anything."

Burgin said that each ambulance would be manned by two graduates of the Department of Transportation's 10 week Emergency Medical Technician course.

"We want to give you the absolute best," Burgin told aldermen, "because if we do this we can't help but succeed."

Burgin and Burt Patterson, vice president and general manager, brought one of the mobile units valued at $22,000 to the board meeting for inspection.

Burgin said plans call for three such units to be placed in a base station in Gulfport with another unit for Long Beach and Pass Christian and one for the Bay-Waveland area.

Burgin said that all money collected during the planned six-week subscription drive would be placed in escrow and refunded if a sufficient number of patrons were not met.

In other business aldermen approved a resolution submitted by Hancock General Hospital administrator Mona Santiago proclaiming the week of May 7-14 as National Hospital Week.

—granted a request from Julius Williams that the city donate an old merry-go-round to the United Methodist Church in Waveland.

—approved a resolution supporting the efforts of the Mississippi delegation and congressmen to obtain a "fair and just settlement" of the requests of Gulf Coast Fishermen for disaster aid.

Date set for school bond vote

Hancock county supervisors set June 4 as the date for voting on a special bond issue for additional construction of county schools.

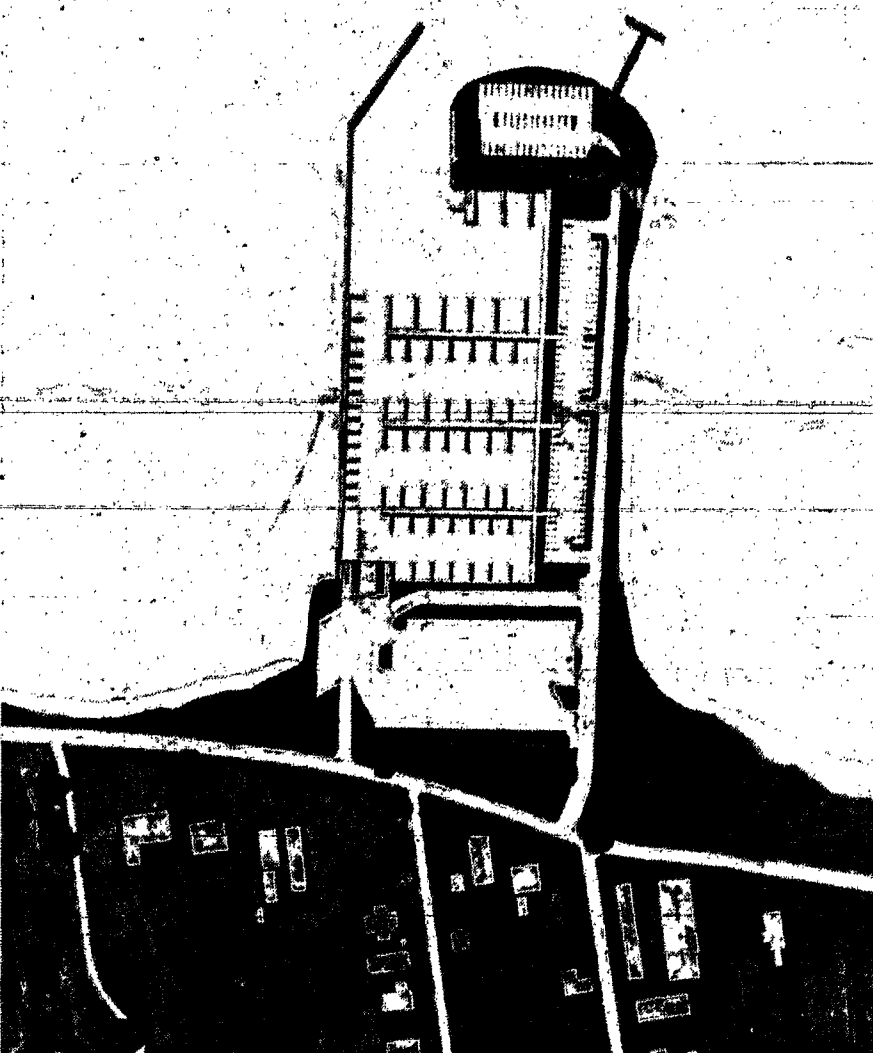

A discussion arose over the question of establishing an additional polling site in the Diamondhead community. County tax assessor-collector George Heitzmann said Diamondhead was situated within two beats - three and five - necessitating two polling places. Action on the matter was deferred pending further discussion with Diamondhead residents and Circuit Clerk Henry Otis.

In an unrelated matter, county engineer Larry Seal informed the board that "it has become obvious that (Don) Breland just can't finish these contracts" for county road work under revenue sharing funds.

He had put Breland's bonding company on notice, Seal said, and was informed by the company that Breland's partner, H. R. Doty, is liable for the work. Doty agreed to finish the road work but under the condition that all payments be made out to him, rather than to the contracting company.

Board attorney Sam Favre advised Seal that this arrangement would be legal and acceptable as long as Breland agreed to an assignment to Doty.

In other business, the board passed a motion to raise county wages to $2 per hour in compliance with new federal wage minimums.

Artist's concept

An artist's concept of the proposed marina for Bay St. Louis shows what the $1.1 million development would look like after the three phase project was completed. The proposal which was adopted by the Bay St. Louis council Monday morning will be submitted to the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation in Jackson for approval of a 50-50 matching grant. (See story inside)

SHORTLES

BY ADOREE

Dear Sam,

Just as the moon has a strange and dynamic effect on so much of the earth's processes, so do the tides schedule, which we print religiously each week. In a seacoast resort town, the tides are practically the most important part of the paper.

As an example, the following is a letter I received from a friend (who is also a part of the media madness):

"The Sea Coast Echo must have some sort of magic way of predicting great eruptions in the Bay of St. Louis. In a recent issue the Echo listed the tides for Friday, May 3 as high tide at 10:43 p.m. and the low tide at 9:11 p.m. I checked with the Coast Guard and they agreed if the tides changed that close we would surely have some sort of tidal wave in the Bay."

This friend has a large sense of humor. He did admit that the CG said the 10:43 p.m. was probably a typo - which it was.

These tides are really the bane of my editorial existence for more reasons than one and I live in constant fear of such mistakes. Most of the time we're right but it's that occasional miscalculation or typo that shakes me.

I have nightmares about some hapless and trusting fisherman, Echo tides in his pocket, sailing forth at dawn to rendezvous with the incoming tide at his favorite fishing spot. Hours later he's sitting four miles out, high and dry on a sandbar, the shrimp on his hook dying from dehydration and sunstroke.

It has also almost lost me a friend or two. Like the friend who fishes every chance he gets, as much to feed his family as for pleasure. He had a really bad experience from trusting my tides.

The fish were running (that's very important), we scheduled the tide to come in strong at 8 a.m. and he didn't have to go to work until 1 p.m. He and a friend stood on the Bay bridge in a cold, drizzling rain from 7:30 until noon - waiting.

The only thing he caught was a cold and a lot of flack from his wife who had to open a can of tuna for dinner. He said later (when he was speaking to me again) that they watched the tide rushing in as they drove away.

That sort of thing hurts.

What can I say? How can I tell 'em it all comes from a big book that frankly I think NASA used to put men on the moon... that if you have a mind like Einstein, a bank of computers and you eat the right breakfast food, it's easy. Jeanne Dixon gets all of her predictions out of it. Why can't I get the right tides out of it? Now that I think of it, she and I have the same degree of accuracy.

Speaking of NASA, I just had a brainstorm. There's a whole bank of brains and computers at the test site here. There's even a meteorologist with a PhD. He must be good for SOMETHING!

I'm going to call the test site right now and hope I get a scientist who reads the Echo and fishes a lot.

One more thing. Another of my mistakes elicited another letter - with a most impressive signature. It referred to an editorial I wrote about our county supervisors whose repartee at meetings reminded me of a long-time, well-known standup comedian.

The letter was short and to the point, to wit: "In your editorial last week you made reference to a person named Earl Gardner. Could you by any chance mean that very prolific writer of detective thrillers, ERLE Stanley Gardner? Good heavens, Earl, of all things. Sincerely, Perry Mason."

Perry Mason, yet!! I didn't know he read the Echo. It's very flattering. However, after conferring with the editorial staff, we realized that what I meant was Brother Dave Gardner. I've always had trouble with names.

How is it with the scuba diving world? All you have to worry about are sharks, poisonous coral and... good grief, tides. Maybe I'll stay where I am.

Parchman staff cleared of charges by committee

Meetings Friday and Saturday, lasting until about 6:30 p.m. at Parchman resulted in the following statement from the Senate Corrections committee, investigating allegations of misconduct on the part of Parchman administrators.

Superintendent Jack Reed was present at the meetings, a senate source said, as well as members of the Penitentiary board.

The following statement expresses the official position of the committee, meeting Friday and was adopted by the secretary of the board.

"The Senate Corrections Committee met Friday and Saturday of last week to look into allegations that alcoholic beverages had been used at the prison in violation of the state law and other acts of misconduct by officials of the prison. The committee found that there had been some misuse of alcoholic beverage by employees in the past but there was no evidence presented that this had occurred after an order was issued by the superintendent dated April 5. The committee also found that there had been some unauthorized personal use of a state vehicle. Supt. Reed stated that this had been stopped. Mr. Reed agreed not to take any disciplinary action against an employee because he had appeared before the committee or signed an affidavit and lastly the committee found that the security at the state penitentiary had greatly improved in the past six months."

Resident attends Stephens reunion

Mrs. Leo F. (Virginia) Wagner, Jr., Bay St. Louis, was one of 210 Stephens College alumnae who attended the annual reunion April 19-21 on the women's college campus.

Reunions are held for each class every five years to renew friendships and acquaint alumnae with the campus and college life today.

Weekend activities included a "Sentimental Journey" through residence halls, talks by faculty women on the legal and educational rights of women, and a presentation on "Issues in Educating Today's Women" by Dr. Ester Westervelt, director of Institutional Studies at Simmons College.

President Emeritus Dr. Seymour A. Smith was honored for his 16 years of service to the college. Several alumnae and faculty service awards were presented and new Alumnae Association Fund Board officers and members were elected.

Stephens, a four-year undergraduate women's college of 1850 students, emphasizes liberal and fine arts for careers, graduate study and continuous learning.

board attorney, briefed the board on its relations to a hearing request from Willie C. Acker, a teacher at Pass High School. Floyd informed the board that SB 2108 had become a law on April 24, and according to his interpretation of the language written into the law, the board has no recourse other than to honor the request for the hearing from Mr. Acker. However, Floyd continued, the law does not specify the alternatives offered the board at the conclusion of the hearing. Floyd indicated that he had requested an opinion from the state attorney general as to the status of former legislation governing teacher contracts and employment. The board decided that a date for a hearing would be set and the attorney for Mr. Acker would be so notified.

In other action the board: approved administrators salaries for the 1974-75 school term.

authorized advertising for 20 quart mixer and two door refrigerator.

approved work schedule for district wide non-professional personnel.

authorized advertising for sale of surplus school equipment.

After hearing a report from Superintendent Leroy Lizana on the need for an identifying marker at the Pass Elementary School the board authorized the superintendent to contact the school architect and secure preliminary plans and specifications for a school sign indicating the school and district administrative office.

The following bids were awarded: Paine Supply, Gulfport - Fans for school district cafeterias $1,299.47; 7 Man Football Sled to Central School Supply, Jackson $1,295.

Prior to the meeting trustees met at the DeLisle Elementary School to conduct a preliminary inspection of the building program on the DeLisle campus.

Bay gets pilot program for elderly

The Mississippi state Welfare Dept. has funded the first day care center for Senior Citizens in Hancock County. The first Center in the state opened Monday in the main Senior Citizens activity Center in Bay St. Louis under the direction of Mrs. Eve McDonald, county coordinator for all Senior Citizens programs.

The Day Care Center, situated in Valena C. Jones building on Old Spanish Trail, has six participants already. Funding for the daily facility comes from the state Welfare Department through Southern Mississippi Planning and Development Dist. with 25 percent local matching funds from the county and cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland. The United Fund also contributes a share of the operational expense.

Training for the staff was under the auspices of 15 various agencies which provide services for the elderly. Health care services for day care participants will be provided by the South Miss. Home, Health and Rehabilitation office in Long Beach.

Mrs. McDonald projects an ultimate total of 40 participants in the new program.

The new center will extend a protective environment, Mrs. McDonald said, for those citizens who need attention but who don't need institutional care. A hot meal and two daily snacks will be given as well as therapeutic recreation and companionship. Six trained staff members plus a number of volunteer workers will staff the new Center.

Ansley plane crash kills four

An eight-month old baby was orphaned when his parents and another couple were killed in a tragic airplane crash Saturday night in Hancock county.

The Hancock sheriff's office was notified about 10:15 p.m. by a Tennessee Gas Co. engineer of a flash of fire in the vicinity of the Port and Harbor industrial park.

Investigating deputies found the blazing wreckage of a Cherokee single engine plane, downed at the edge of Mrs. Azoline Thian's property in Ansley.

The Clermont Harbor Volunteer Fire Dept. unit extinguished the fire and deputies recovered the charred bodies of Kelly O. Thomas, 25, his wife Deborah R. Thomas, 21, Judith P. Weiss, 26, and the pilot Ronald Kidd, 29, from within the plane.

According to Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, the Thomas' who were from Daytona Beach, and the other couple, from Kissimmee, were returning to Florida from New Orleans. Airport authorities in the New Orleans airport said that a flight plan had been filed and given a weather clearance. However, residents of the Ansley area said that a sudden, severe wind and electrical storm hit the area about the same time the light plane was flying over, and may have caused the crash. Wings of the plane were found about a half mile away from the wreckage in the woods.

The accident is under investigation by Thomas Watson, National Transportation Safety Board inspector from Miami, and Oscar Feaster, Federal Aviation Administration inspector.

The bodies were taken by ambulance to Riemann Funeral Home in Gulfport, then sent to Florida.

The Thomas couple was survived by a baby son, according to the sheriff.

Motorcycle accident claims life of La. man

A Violet, La. man became another Coast traffic fatality Wednesday about 6:45 p.m. when the motorcycle he was riding on South St. in Clermont Harbor apparently went out of control on a curve.

James J. Brett, 31, was pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock General Hospital. The body was later transferred to a New Orleans funeral home. Investigating officer was Sheriff's Deputy Fairley Nacaise assisted by Deputy Ed Jennings.

City fathers hope marina is reality for 200th birthday

A lady carpenter?

Not really. It's just a hobby that Mrs. Gloria Servat of Waveland decided to pursue at the Pearl River Junior College Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center adjacent to Stennis Field. The class met on Wednesday and Monday during the last semester at the local school. A housewife and former secretary, Gloria said she enjoyed the class and gained enough knowledge and experience to have a workshop at her home. However, she pointed out that she was not going to construct out to build any homes.

The Bay St. Louis city council Monday decided to move full steam ahead with proposals for development of a $1.1 million marina at the site of the present American Legion pier.

The proposal was presented to the council by Burk & Associates, city engineers for Bay Hi chorus presents spring concert

The Bay Senior High Chorus will present its Spring Concert Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

The mixed chorus, which was rated superior during the District VIII Choral Festival in March, will sing "This Still Room," "The Water is Wide," "Horo Mharidu," as well as others.

The boys chorus, "The Drifter," "Like the Mighty Eagle," and "Dry Bones," and the Superior-rated girls chorus will present "May Day Carol," "Killing Me Softly," and "Heavenly Father."

The Boys Quartet will entertain with a barbershop number, and special music will be sung by the girls sextet and mixed ensemble. The choral groups are under the direction of Mrs. Toy Tedford, and Mrs. Ben Hille, Jr. will be accompanist.

Admission to the concert is free, and the public is invited to attend.

Bay St. Louis, who entered into contract with the city last October to do design work in preparation for application for state and federal matching funds.

Leo J. Bevon, one of the chief planners of the project, presented two alternate proposals to the council which differed primarily only in the amount of land mass required.

Under Proposal B, which the council accepted, the city would have to acquire approximately 300 feet of additional beachfront property from Washington to Sycamore Streets.

Burk & Associates said that it would take approximately two weeks to prepare the city's application for 50 percent matching funds to the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation. The application is then reviewed by the state and approved or disapproved.

George Klempeter, an associate of the firm, said that if the application is approved it goes into a holding status until funds become available.

Klempeter said he could not speculate when the city might get a grant. The city's share of the matching funds would have to be available shortly after word of the grant was received.

Phase I of the three phase development calls for:

- four launching ramps with two wooden piers. Each pier will serve two launching ramps. Ramps will be constructed of concrete with a 15 foot apron.
- landward parking adjacent to launching ramps for 43 cars with trailers and 65 cars only.
- a clear channel a minimum of six feet deep to deeper water at the mouth of the Bay.
- upgrading of the existing fishing pier through the addition of lighting and water service.

Income from the pier could be generated in several ways according to engineers... from rental of boat slips, from the lease of commercial space for concession services and from a possible nominal charge for fishing from the pier.

In other council business, a motion by Mayor Warren Carver that the city advertise for bids for a utility collection computer service died for lack of a second from either commissioner.

Both commissioners Lucien Kidd and Clarence Lader said they felt the city should delay action until a later date.

Commissioner Kidd is known to favor the city investing in its own computer equipment to do billing rather than renting time from an independent service.

Another attempt by Mayor Carver to get commissioners to back him on discontinuing the services of Burk & Associates as city engineers for drainage work in the city also failed for the third time.

Carver agreed to a proposal from George Klempeter to compile a list of problem areas within the city that were not large enough to warrant project planning but needed attention and to submit that list to Klempeter for his attention.

In other business, the council:

- agreed to readvertise for bids for waterproofing of the City Hall.
- appointed Shelton

Estimated cost of Phase I of the development is $44,000 with $51,000 for contingency fees.

Phase II of the project calls for the construction of a break-water of reinforced concrete pile and planks to extend beyond the peninsula, the extension of four piers into the harbor created by the breakwater to provide docking space for two hundred boats, and dredging of the harbor to a ten foot depth to allow easy access for boats using the marina. Excess fill material will be dumped on the southwest side of the marina to create a larger beach area.

In addition the landward parking lot will be paved with asphalt.

Estimated cost of Phase II is $44,000 with $36,000 for contingency fees.

The final phase would include construction of buildings for dry storage, concession areas, addition of boat slips, and construction of a manager's home.

Ward receives award in State Arts Festival

Harry C. Ward, son of Mrs. Juanita Ward and the late Harry C. Ward Sr. of Bay St. Louis, was among winners announced recently in Jackson in the Mississippi Art Association's competitive showing for professional artists held in conjunction with the Mississippi Arts Festival.

Ward, an assistant professor of art at the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg, received the Award of Merit for the single best entry not included in the grand prize for his acrylic "Painting III". The work which depicts seven astronauts is valued at $1,000.

Ward was among 39 artists whose works were accepted for the show at the Arts Festival. A total of 150 artists entered the statewide competition which was open to professional artists living in the State of Mississippi or native Mississippians living out of state. Each artist presented three works.

Grand prize for the best group of three works was given to Eloise Buckler of Laurel for three macramés entitled "Hanging", "Woman", and "In the Woods".

Honorable mentions for single works not included in the grand prize were received by Zarah Maranian of Jackson for "Group Construction" in mixed media and by Robert Pickenpaugh of Madison for "Stoneware Picture Pot" in pottery.

The juror for selections and awards was Vincent Dieball, head of the art department at the University of Georgia in Athens.

An instructor at USM since 1967 where he teaches painting, drawing and design, Ward was one of 18 faculty members chosen in 1973 to receive an "Excellence in Teaching" award based on the recommendation of colleagues, administrators and students.

His works have appeared in both national and regional exhibitions, as well as several one-man showings throughout the state, and can be found in both private and institutional collections in the South.

A graduate of Bay High School, he received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Southern Mississippi and a Master of Arts degree from East Tennessee State.

Ward and his wife, the former Barbara Fox of Limestone, Tenn., have two children, Harry Dayton and Claudette. The family makes its residence in Hattiesburg.

Projects for community service outlined by Junior Auxiliary

"Projects for the Coming Year" was the subject which dominated business at the regular monthly meeting of the Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary held Monday at the Webb Community Center.

Chief determinates that yielded an interesting slate of projects were fresh ideas to meet new needs arising from changing times, and expanded services to extend present programs, in line with Junior Auxiliary aims.

The organization attempts, to foster interest among its members in the social, economic, educational, civic and young conditions about them and to render humanitarian services to children in their community.

Junior Auxiliary members voted to implement the following projects during the coming year: conduct a series of seminars and workshops for elementary school teachers relating to working with exceptional children; sponsor a letter campaign in support of the Children's Television Workshop programming; construct a Mini Safety Town to teach safety rules and regulations to cyclists and young pedestrians, and install a traffic sign at the highest traffic count corner reporting records of injuries and fatalities on our streets; furnish service to the City-County Public Library during the summer months, donate a book to the library in honor of each baby born to a Junior Auxiliary member and help improve the physical environment of the facility.

As part of the Bay St. Louis 115th Year celebration, the chapter will publish a coloring book for young citizens illustrating our local heritage; provide to nursing homes in the community periodic visits featuring special parties and entertainment, birthday cards and a newsletter; maintain a Clothes Closet to supply children and families in need with clothing; present a theatrical rendition of a children's classic featuring the talents of Junior Auxiliary members; sponsor the performance of the Vagabond Marionettes.

Mrs. Joseph W. Gex, Mrs. David L. Johnson, and Mrs. James B. Woodfin, returning from the 33rd Convention of the National Association of Junior Auxiliaries, Inc., held in Hot Springs, Arkansas, reported there was no "horsing around" at the appropriately titled "Place Your Bet on J. A." convention.

The morning line of workshops featured speakers who were Winners By A Mile in their field. Subject ranged from physical fitness and nutrition to parent effectiveness training and sex education not omitting interpersonal relations and consumer affairs.

Of special interest was the Chapter Swap, a place to demonstrate outstanding service projects, in which the Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary entered a display of the club's presentation of the

New Orleans Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra. Another special attraction was a Gambler's Paradise, an auction of goods donated by, and representative of, each chapter. The outcome was great fun, netting $2,047 presented to St. Jude's Hospital.

The Bay-Waveland club's contribution, a shadow-box purse containing articles ranging from red beans and rice to a Nereids Carnival dubloon and a make-believe sample of moonshine, brought a sizeable portion of the total proceeds. The project was constructed by the skillful hands of Mrs. Walter Gex.

Other business acted upon was the chapter's endorsement and agreement to assist in the presentation of a Music Festival for the benefit of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Drug Abuse Center. The affair scheduled for Sunday, June 2nd, 4-6 p.m. at the Biloxi High Auditorium will feature a New Orleans Gala Program. Among artists appearing will be the Ronnie Kole Trio, the Olympia Marching Band and Pete Fountain. Tickets will be on sale for $4 each from the Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary. Details will be available later.

It was announced that Regional IV Meeting of the National Association of Junior Auxiliaries, Inc. will be October 23 in the Bay-Waveland community. The local chapter will serve as hostesses.

Theatre Review

Ted is terrific -

as 'The Last of the Red Hot Lovers'

by Adoree Shortle
Echo-news editor

The program blog states that the part of Barney Cashman in "The Last of the Red Hot Lovers" is Ted Stechmann's first starring role.

If that is so, then all we can say is a lot of time has been wasted and somebody missed the boat in prior castings.

Although we decry the use of superlatives in describing amateur theatricals, we have to admit - Ted is terrific. Certainly not a neophyte on the legitimate stage, the young science teacher started his theatrical career at a tender 14 but stayed backstage until college days. His subsequent on-stage appearances have been limited to supporting roles in a few good plays.

However untapped, the talent was there and it all came out last weekend in the Bay Little Theatre production of Neil Simon's funny, funny vehicle about a middle-aged three-time loser (actually four if you count his wife's refusal for an annunciation at the close of the play.

A strong lead, an adept director and an excellent farce should be a winning combination for an evening of good, entertaining theatre. However, the pristine quality of this production was somewhat dimmed by the three supporting actresses who were no match for Ted's timing and excellent comedy delivery nor for director Caroline Kiefer's staging.

Drawing room comedy has to move and dialogue has to be quick and crisp. We'd rather see lines stepped on than dropped (if one must make a choice) and there was enough of the latter in the first act to ruin the pacing and set the small, but responsive audience down in mood.

As the act one object of Barney's foray into infidelity, Kathy O'Neill was out of her league. Most understandable, as this was her first venture on stage and to start with a Neil Simon comedy is rather courting disaster. Ms. O'Neill is very nice to look at but in no way conveyed the impression of a wanton wife. She did seem to have an instinctive understanding of the comedy content and with some experience would probably make a most satisfactory addition to future productions.

It might have been kinder to both Ms. O'Neill and the audiences if the director had cut some lines from act one.

It would have been a decided improvement in act three where Simon has written in a cumbersome and too-long passage for Barney's third attempted fling, the neurotic wife of the Cashmans' best friend, who has just discovered her husband has been having a fling with her best friend.

There are some marvelously funny lines in the final act, but non-stop whining required for the wife's characterization makes it difficult for even the most professional actress to stay funny.

However, Helen Trudell did an admirable job and, although she too is inexperienced, built well to Barney. She was very believable as the wronged, middle class wife who is as unsuccessful at philosophizing her situation as she is at following through on the rendezvous. Plaudits go to the director who brought out the best in both.

Probably the most amusing and entertaining part of the play was the second act when Barney's encounter with a dippy, pot smoking young chick turns out to be a traumatic experience. Lynn Phillips' portrayal of a far-out, would-be night club singer with a predilection for weirdos was great.

The piece of business at the end of the act when Barney, intent on turning on to the bed, gets turned on to the bed, was a joy to watch. A little more polish and these two will be ready for some Noel Coward.

John Holmes and David Hubbard, as producer and assistant tech director, are to be highly commended for the set, which was solid and professional looking. The artistic talents of Franya Frankiewicz, showcased in the past at Little Theatre, reached a peak with her execution of the New York skyline backdrop. This young lady could make a successful career of set design and production if she so chooses.

The lighting is consistently bad at the Boardman St. theatre and we do so wish some philanthropic soul would give the theatre either the money or wherewithal to get better lights. Keeping all the stage lights up throughout the entire play does nothing for the mood and makes demands of the cast and audience that are unfair. Actually the cost is minimal if one knows what to do.

We're glad we went - and we're glad that Caroline Kiefer added another encore to her "swan song". Bouquets to Little Theatre for a play well done.

National Hospital Week

Hancock General Hospital is joining the nation's more than 7,000 hospitals observing National Hospital Week, May 12-18.

This is an annual event sponsored by the American Hospital Association on behalf of its member institutions to create public interest in and support of the accomplishments and goals of our health care institutions.

With the theme of this year's observance, "Get to know us before you need us," hospitals are asking the public to become better informed about the growing responsibilities health care institutions are assuming both inside and outside their walls, and the challenges they face in meeting increasing demands for their services in a time of rapid social and economic change.

In the days of Florence Nightingale, hospitals were little more than resting places for the poor sick. Since then they have evolved into complex health care institutions.

We now go into a hospital expecting not just to be tended to, but to be healed and to have our lives saved, and with lots of "tender loving care." And beyond caring for our physical ills, hospitals are concerned more and more about the social, psychological and economic problems created by our illnesses.

We look to our hospitals to be centers of effective research into the cause and cure of disease and to their key role in educating the health care professionals of the future.

We have come to take for granted that hospitals serve not only those in bed, but also those whose health care needs can be met in outpatient clinics and with other ambulatory services.

We expect hospitals to help us stay well, or to help us detect problems before they become serious enough to warrant hospitalization, through community health education programs and screening clinics. We look to our hospitals to help care for us when we are well enough to go home, through home care services, to meet all our medical emergencies, day or night, and to serve as a center for preparedness in times of widespread disasters.

We ask our hospitals to assume leadership in development of neighborhood health centers and to seek better methods of distribution of health care services to more people.

This is an era when people regard it as the right of every citizen to have quality health care, and when we are more critical of rising costs of modern health care services and the way they are provided and paid for.

We encourage every citizen of this community to answer the call of National Hospital Week "to get to know" your hospital. With knowledge comes understanding and the support, interest, and involvement of the community on which our hospital depends if it is to continue to fulfill our increasing expectations of them with maximum efficiency and economy.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

We are sick and tired of Watergate. It was a stupid, childish maneuver to begin with, and the way it has been followed up by our learned representatives would make the witch hunts in Old Salem models of sincerity and integrity.

In the beginning the inquiries and steps of procedures were what might have been expected in a situation of this kind. But one thing was sure: they were thorough; every angle was examined at length, every person who might have had a hand in the plot was quizzed and requizzed. But did that settle matters? By no means! Special examiners were introduced. Special committees were set up, and special sub-committees of committees, grand-juries were invoked, special judges were appointed to rule on the material presented to the committees.

And then came the Battle of the Tapes. Court orders, subpoenas, testimonies, attacks and counter-attacks from all quarters. Speeches by the hundreds, court actions at all levels, there seemed to be no end of it. We wonder if somebody, some day, will estimate a figure of how much all this cost. Can anyone say how many hours each senator and each representative has put into reading, talking, testifying about the case, how many hours have been spent by secretaries, typists, file clerks and record-keepers, or how much for printing and supplies? It makes your head swim just to try to take it all into comprehension.

And in the opinion of many a good, solid American citizen, the time has come to stop the whole stupid farce, to get on with some of the really important facets of government, to pass legislation to correct some of the errors that have crept in while our attention has wandered, and above all to stop the huge wastage of money that this turmoil has been costing us. Let the legislators again earn their pay by being constructive and productive and stop wasting their time in committee meetings, sub-committee meetings, conferences, debates and hassles over a subject that the people want to forget. Let them join all of us in singing, "I'm gonna wash that mess right outta my hair" and get back to doing something constructive about inflation and outrageous profits.

So somebody says, "You'll never settle Watergate thataway;" to which we have a sure reply: "Watergate has already been settled, as far as we are concerned; we are going to stop scratching up dead embers and devote ourselves to nursing along a little fire that will warm up a lot of lives and light up a fresh picture of America."

THE EXORCIST

Our Readers Write

Dear Sir,

The wire services this morning (May 6) carried a statement that a Congressman James Burke of Massachusetts was presenting to the House Agriculture Committee the text of his bill to authorize distribution of free seeds and plants to anyone who wants them.

On January 28, 1974 I wrote Congressman Trent Lott of Mississippi suggesting that he present such a bill. Lott's secretary, a Miss Marie Darsey of his Gulfport office answered my letter on January 30th, saying she was forwarding it to him in Washington. He, too, had written him at the same time.

To this date the mighty Congressman has not deigned to reply, to acknowledge or to institute such a gesture. Too bad the Yankees care more for people than our own do.

Disgustedly,
Mrs. J.M. Beauchamp
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

In a special meeting the board of supervisors reaffirmed a land use ordinance and repealed the county building code.

Well, it's about time they did this; on March 4 they passed a land use ordinance. One week later they told the public that we would lose our federal flood insurance.

Citizens this is the kind of hogwash that these elected officials and their counterparts tried to sell us. Is this the kind of officials we want to run our local government? NO! Let's do not forget this come election day.

It seems to me no one in our local government read the national flood insurance act of 1968 and also title 24 revised as of April 1, 1973 (notice the date 1973). It took the board one year from this time to put into effect a land use ordinance. Yet you and your counterparts and some of the leading merchants of our county tried to say it would be the public's fault if we did not pass a building code to save the flood insurance. Are we going to take this for another four years? NO!

Mr. Farve, the board attorney who gives all the legal advice to the board, stated three or four times in the last three weeks and also at the special meeting that it is illegal to apply a building code in just the flood prone areas.

I wonder where the Hancock Planning Commission has been all this time. They sure did not listen very well to the legal advice given to every one.

Mr. Wilson Webb read a resolution from the Hancock Planning Commission suggesting the building code be applied only in flood prone areas.

Dolph Kellar, board president, outlined three choices:

1. go ahead with the building code. (they knew that we knew, that this would never be voted in.)

2. adopt the planning commissions recommendation. (how can anyone recommend to the board something that is illegal.)

3. fall back on the land use ordinance. (this is the only thing that has made any sense in the last four weeks.)

The only thing we ask the board and the board attorney is to be careful of what kind of articles and paragraphs that will be inserted in the ordinance. We would also want a copy of the ordinance put into the local paper so that everyone would know what it is all about.

Now for Mr. Ladner, the board of supervisors are elected by the people and to do a good job for the people. It is not a three ring circus as one reporter put it. The people signed the petition not to have a building code. We have won so what are you trying to prove? Have you read the NFTA program of 1968 and title 24 Revised as of April 1, 1973? From your actions it seems to me that you did not. Why don't you do a good job for the people in your beat and don't worry about the people up in the hills (as you call them). This will not work Mr. Ladner. The people up in the hills are not so naive as you think they are. Come election day they will prove it.

Now for the youths against pollution. I think you are in the right church but the wrong pew. You were one hundred percent correct in saying a strong building code with the related subdivisions regulations would have forced the developers to provide proper drainage and sewerage disposal. But you also left out proper streets, fire protection, gas lines, water mains, street lights and police patrol. Well why didn't the board of supervisors put this into effect ten to fifteen years ago when these subdivisions were brought to the board for approval. Now you are trying to blame the people who live along the Jordan River and its tributaries. How can a building code rectify this? All it would do is put a burden on the people. This is why I was so strong against it. If we had all the facilities that the cities do then we would be for it too.

Now that the board has adopted a county ordinance (which the people do not know anything about yet) it will be up to the board to do the job it was elected to do.

Sam Farve is the attorney for the board; maybe he can find some loop holes in the agreements that were made by previous supervisors and then this board can take legal action against them. Also you can check into your own sewerage and drainage problem. Take a good look at all the pipes that are running into the sound along the coast of Bay St. Louis and Waveland and see where your waste is going. I think the people of this county should be proud of you fellows for standing up for what you think is right for your community. Keep up the good work even if you are partly wrong, at least you are on the right track. Good luck, fellows.

Washington Report

SEE MISSISSIPPI FIRST
If you're still contemplating that cross-country drive to vacation land this summer, hold on just a minute and consider what the Federal Energy Office is saying these days.

Following up on an earlier letter to former Energy Administrator William Simon - in which I asked for a set of general citizen guidelines for summer fuel use - I put in a call to FEO headquarters in Washington last week and asked for an update on their summer outlook.

The news, friends, is both good and bad.

First the good news. If everyone continues to conserve energy supplies and plan their vacations prudently, we'll be in fairly good shape this summer.

Now the bad news. If everyone doesn't play it straight and close to the vest by conserving instead of wasting, it could turn into a long, hot summer.

That's the gist of the message from the energy office. And I pass this on not to alarm you, but to ask you to continue your conservation efforts.

Naturally, the tourist business is critical to South Mississippi. In fact, it is among the most important sectors in the economy of South Mississippi, particularly the Gulf Coast.

That fact prompted a meeting last week in Washington, attended by John Sawhill, the new man on the FEO hot seat, along with representatives of the City of Biloxi, the president of the Mississippi Gas Station Operators, and congressional representatives. Sawhill agreed that South Mississippi's is a unique situation and he assured us that he would do everything in his power to alleviate our energy problems.

Sawhill, testifying before the Senate Commerce Committee in early April, also recognized the tremendous importance of this nation's tourist industry in general.

"Not only is tourism important to our economy, but it is vital to our social well-being," he said. "In these troubled times, recreation and tourism have become increasingly necessary to our health and state of mind."

In the same breath, however, he urged vacationing in your own section of the country. In other words, see Mississippi first if at all possible.

That seems like a worthy suggestion to me, for it not only will sustain the tourist industry in Mississippi, but it will also take some of the strain off the already-strained gasoline supplies of this nation.

For you boating enthusiasts, FEO passed along the information that marinas will be supplied with gasoline just as gasoline stations are supplied. That doesn't mean the end of pleasure boating, but it does mean that marinas must conserve their gasoline supplies.

Another hint dropped by the FEO officials was really a plea to hold our air conditioners at 78 degrees this summer. That sounds awfully warm, but if you lowered your thermostat to 68 degrees this winter you probably won't find it impossible to raise it a little this summer.

There you have it, friends. The summer outlook is both good and bad. If everyone cooperates, however, you still should be able to enjoy that well-deserved vacation this summer. Especially if you see Mississippi first.

FASHION PLUS FOR SPRING

Gain "fashion plus" this spring with a smart new leather belt. It is an accessory you can wear with many outfits that range in styles from casual to formal.

When taste meets waist this season, leather belts making the introduction will be mainly in narrow width. However, the wider belt is slowly increasing in popularity again, with wide cinch belts ready to ride in on the tide of the Forties and Fifties nostalgia kick. Leather itself is a major part of any belt look, and today's American belt leathers include about every type: smooth, suede, grained, antiqued, brushed, harness, waxy, embossed, latigo, patent leather and others.

Slim-line leather belts, up to two inches in width, will serve with distinction buckled over dresses, pants, costumes, sweater-and-skirt outfits and spring coats. Buckles are often a knockout fashion note in themselves, and appear in self-leather, wood, enamel, tortoise, lucite, silver, gold and other materials. The shaped double-buckle hooked together usually an animal is a popular style theme, painting on wood, leather or ceramic is another smart motif.

The wide belt is usually slated for sporty accessorizing - except when the wide cinch belt teams with the big skirt. In the wide casual belt category, leather spotlights the harness, suede, waxy, antiques and latigo leather finishes. Bold stitching, contours, lacing and hardware are featured trim. Wide cinch leather belts are more simple styled with large metal or leather buckles.

Completing the circle of leather belt fashions are these striking designs: smooth or suede leather contour belts, sleekly smart with the season's new dresses; leather belts with a frontier flavor, sporting hand-tooling or western-look buckles; skinny leather belts for the young and young-in-figure; and for after-five attire leather belts buckled or trimmed with rhinestones, pearls or other jewels.

New Orleans Symphony presents special season-end programs

Two special season-end programs have been announced by the New Orleans Symphony. The Modern Jazz Quartet will appear with the Symphony under Werner Torkanowsky on Thursday, May 30 at 8:30 p.m. On Sunday, June 2, Jacques d'Amboise and Allegra Kent, principal dancers with the New York City Ballet, will perform with the Symphony, also under the baton of Maestro Torkanowsky. Both programs take place in the New Orleans Theatre of the Performing Arts.

The Modern Jazz Quartet was formed more than 20 years ago. Its members are John Lewis, piano; Milt Jackson, vibraphone; Percy Heath, bass and Connie Kay, drums. The MJQ are not strangers to the symphony concert hall, having performed this season with the orchestras of Phoenix, Corpus Christi, Baltimore and Sacramento. Among the works they will bring to New Orleans are two compositions by John Lewis: "In Memoriam" and "Jazz Ostinato," both for jazz quartet and orchestra.

Considered the first great American-born male dancer, d'Amboise is a native of Dedham, Massachusetts. He has been a principal of the New York City Ballet since 1953, having joined the company in 1949.

Allegra Kent was born in Santa Monica, California and went to New York at the age of 13 to study at the School of American Ballet. Miss Kent joined the New York City Ballet in 1953 and became a principal in 1957.

Tickets for the Modern Jazz Quartet on May 30, and Jacques d'Amboise and Allegra Kent on June 2 are on sale at Werlein's Box Office, 605 Canal Street, and at the Symphony Office, 333 St. Charles Avenue. Telephone reservations may be made by calling the Symphony at 524-0404.

Mormons observe

Mother's Day all year

As Mother's Day approaches, the attention and concern of many turn to the family, and extra efforts are made to promote love and unity within the home.

Unfortunately, this interest in strengthening the family unit often passes with Mother's Day, as family members become involved with many other activities that draw their attention away from the home.

For The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon), however, Mother's Day is part of a larger effort throughout the entire year to bring happiness through family love and solidarity. They believe that motherhood and fatherhood are the most important responsibilities that parents can have.

Since 1915, the Mormons have sponsored a program which they call the "Family Home Evening." According to President James Walden of the Bayou La Croix Branch (congregation), all families in the church are strongly encouraged to set apart one night each week for a Family Home Evening, when the entire family gathers together for religious studies from the scriptures, recreational activities and family councils. The philosophy and purpose of this program were summed up by the late David O. McKay, ninth president of the church, when he stated, "No other success can compensate for failure in the home."

Although the Family Home Evening was originally developed for use in The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Elder Craig C. Barton, a local Mormon missionary, explained that it can be used by families of all faiths to meet their various needs.

In fact, a large portion of the missionary service of Elder Barton and his companion, Elder Garth L. Wiscombe, is devoted to sharing this program with interested families of all religions. They can be contacted at 467-3055 before 9:30 a.m. and after 9:30 p.m. for more information.

Scouts aim for trip with spaghetti supper

Boy Scout Troop 208 of Bay St. Louis is planning a spaghetti and meatball supper to raise funds for the troop's annual trip.

Set for May 17, the supper will be held at the American Legion Hall on Blue Meadow Rd. in Bay St. Louis. "Big John" Rutherford will do the cooking for the affair, which will be served from 5 to 8:30 p.m. A troop spokesman announced that dinner may be eaten in or taken out and donations are $1.50 each.

Funds raised from past suppers and other activities have enabled the scouts to enjoy trips to a number of points of interest such as Gatlinburg, Tenn., the Arkansas mountains and the Carolinas.

This year the scouts are anticipating a trip to Cape Kennedy and Disney World. Advance tickets can be purchased from any scout in the Bay-Waveland area, from adult leaders or by calling Watson Johns at 467-6167.

Drugs and your health

by John F. Russell, M.D.

The hypodermic syringe and needle was first introduced into the United States in 1856 and was immediately the greatest boon to medicine and paradoxically, the greatest bane of society.

During the Civil War soldiers blessed its discovery as a means to relieve their pain. For the first time in history it was possible to inject a substance directly into the blood stream for immediate effect rather than the much slower process of swallowing and waiting for absorption to occur. Yet, at the same time, it became the fastest road to addiction the world has ever known. So many Civil War veterans returned home addicted to morphine that it was called the "soldier's disease."

Strangely enough, it was believed at that time that if one injected a narcotic one would not become addicted to it as the digestive system was by-passed. Today many feel that until an individual turns to the needle he is not really an addict. Be that as it may, when one turns to the needle to get his high, he is long past the stage of curiosity and experimentation. Those who "mainline" (inject a substance directly into the vein) may be said to be "hooked." And those who claim that their fear of needles will protect them are only fooling themselves. It doesn't take many times of being "fixed" by someone else before one learns to do himself, the end justifying the means. It is the fastest way of getting there, wherever there may be. Everything is being "shot" today...heroin, cocaine, speed, downers...and even some really ridiculous concoctions. At one time it became the "in" thing to shoot peanut butter. How could anyone get high on peanut butter? They can't! However, the introduction of any foreign substance into the blood stream is a shock to the system which some mistake for a "rush" (the first spreading effect after injecting heroin or speed). Then, too, the body is such a well developed organism that it immediately marshals antibodies (soldiers of the blood) against the invading substance as if it were a germ. So, a reaction is felt. This is no high or rush...simply the body's mechanisms against disease at work.

As if this weren't enough, as the needle is passed from one to another, more is passed than is bargained for. With the increase in drug abuse we are finding an increase in skin infections, poisoning, hepatitis and malaria. In fact, in the spring of 1971 with the influx of veterans returning from Vietnam, California had the worst outbreak of malaria in twenty years as it spread from vet to civilian via the shared needle. Contaminated needles probably account for more deaths than the drugs themselves.

These are not the only problems that the use of needles brings. Besides disease, infection, and contaminants, there is the added feature of missed veins where the drugs are injected into the tissues by mistake. We have encountered innumerable swollen extremities as a result of this. Arms swollen two to three times normal size, knots the size of oranges and as hard as rocks. Some have lost the use of their arms or legs. One thirteen year old girl had to have her tongue removed when the needle broke off under her tongue (where she was shooting to avoid tracks) and gangrene set in.

Other great benefits of "shooting up" include needle tracks which never disappear, collapsed veins which can never be used again even by a Pass joins . . .

Christian Park Commission was accepted by the board with expressed commendations for both men's efforts on behalf of the city.

A requested acceptance of the Balmoral subdivision sewer system was tabled on the recommendation of Welch, who said the system is defective and inadequate. The system is pumping raw sewage into the bayou, Welch said, and to incorporate the system into the city's would cause a pollution problem in the city water supply.

Council concurred with his suggestion and agreed to have an engineer and Air and Water Pollution Control Commission inspect the system for recommendations on upgrading.

In other business the council:

—extended to June 1 the deadline for increasing harbor slip rental fees.

—granted a 30-day extension request from Gulf Paving Co. on city street improvement project.

doctor, and in some cases, the most pathetic of all, addiction to the needle itself. A "needle freak" is indeed a sad case and nearly impossible to ever cure, for he is hung up on the act of using a needle. There is no need for any drug. He gets high on nothing but the sight of the needle itself, opening a vein.

So it is that the discovery of hypodermic-needle, which has saved countless lives has in turn ruined others. As we have said so many times before...drugs or needles are neither good or bad...it is how they are used that counts.

Echoes

Mrs. Nunez C. Pilet returned to her home, 542 Highland Drive, last Monday following a vacation spent in Arkansas where she was a guest of her sisters, Mrs. Earl Payne and Mrs. Thomas Thompson.

She attended several Arkansas bi-centennial functions including the annual Arkansas Historic convention in Camden. She heard Dee Brown, author of Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee, recall incidents during Arkansas' first oil boom. While in Camden Mrs. Pilet took an historic tour of pre-civil war construction homes and gardens.

Before returning to the Gulf Coast she visited in Hot Springs as well as St. Petit Jean resort in Morrilton.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

The weather has been a little better in May which has just started. Days have been warm and cool nights with a few showers thrown in. Fishing has been about the same with muddy water all along the seawall. No soft crabs and very few flounders are being gotten. Some flounders were caught on the hook and line last week by still fishing with dead shrimp being used for bait.

Things seem to be picking up in fresh water fishing. Bass and perch are still being caught where clear water can be found. Fishing in the Pearl River area is still out. The water remains dirty. With low tides appearing in the afternoons and at night the water in most of the streams should clear pretty soon and fresh water fishing will get back to normal.

Among those catching bass and perch are Ray Garner, Alden Mauffray and yours truly. The big blue gills and lake runners were caught with perch poles and earth worms.

Jack and Milly Rutledge who now reside at Destin, Florida were visiting in Bay St. Louis last week. Both said they have been doing some mighty fine fishing over in Florida and catching plenty fish.

Bob Dahlstrom and Dru Bass spent a couple of days at the Bay visiting friends. They are from Longview, Texas. Dru is quite an angler and does fly fishing mostly. Her last name is really "Bass" and she catches her share of them. Will be back soon again, said Bob, to do some fishing with us.

Met Joseph Castaing who lives on Hi-Way 90. Joe said he loves any kind of fishing, catching crabs, etc. Always ready to go. He is retired and has plenty time on his hands. Will make that trip soon, Joe.

When buying earth worms better look at them. We have been getting some pretty small ones lately. Little worms are hard to put on the hook and don't attract fish. There are plenty folks around who sell good worms. Find out where they are.

Even though Pearl River water is on the muddy side big perch are being caught on crickets, above Logtown.

Oscar Breland was busy Sunday pulling big blue gills. He caught them on a perch pole using live crickets for bait. Mr. Breland enjoys fishing and lives in Pearlinton. Says he thinks crickets are the best bait for catching perch and bass.

The Genin brothers, Robert and John, were fly fishing in Lower Black Bayou Sunday. Don't know exactly how many fish they caught. The high tide probably ruined their fishing trip. Both are fly fishermen and usually get their share of perch and bass when they go after them. The water in Black Bayou is only good way up at the head. The same goes for Mills' Bayou and Gary's Ditch.

Met John T. Saucier and his son, Charles. They make a good father and son combination when it comes to salt water fishing and catching hard crabs. Haven't been doing too good with the crabs, they said.

Randy Adam and I were pretty busy running the Putt-putt course at the S.S.C. Sideline Club over the weekend as plenty other volunteer workers helped to make the Fair a success. It was a busy place both speckles out at the marsh recently. They claimed they were beauties. That's real fishing, I'll say.

Bobby Poyadon, an off-shore fisherman, was telling us of the big fish they catch in outside waters. Speckles usually lead the list. Bobby also catches shrimp when they are running. He is a real sport and commercial fisherman.

Heard from over Delisle way. Fred Peranich said the bayou water is still a little on the bad side but clearing fast. Fishing in that area should get good in about a week, claimed Fred.

If you don't have a copy of the Mississippi Game & Fish comm. publication for April and May you should. There is a story pertaining to hard and soft crabs which is interesting and informative. Tells all about crabs. How they grow, live, etc. and other stories on turkey hunting to perch fishing.

Saw some mighty big bullfrogs in Black Bayou, Mills Bayou and Gray's Ditch the other day. Catching frogs in La. is off the record now as there is a closed season on them during April and May.

Henry Lang stated that he just can't find any soft crabs. He has been checking on them quite often without result. Things may improve later, Henry. Checking ourselves on soft crabs, we know how long it takes them to shed but don't know exactly how long they will stay soft. Some say the new shell is soft for a few hours.

IF IT'S AN INVESTMENT QUESTION

One of the most common misconceptions about investing your money in the stock market is that you have to be rich! That simply is not so. There was a time when America's capital came largely from hundreds of people with millions of dollars. But in recent years, more and more investment capital has come from millions of people who invest hundreds of dollars. Many people in moderate circumstances have been able to put aside enough extra cash to become investors, and many more could do so with little planning.

But a word of caution is in order. Investing in stocks doesn't automatically give you a "King Midas Touch", but it does give you a way of using your money to earn a reasonable return, through both dividends and price appreciation. It is not a way to "get rich quick".

It is also a way of participating in the growth of the American economy. For in buying stock, you are helping to supply industry with the capital it needs for expansion and at the same time, giving yourself a stake in the future of the country—thus serving your own interest and at the same time the interest of the public.

In this area, GATES-CARTER & CO. offers a complete investment service in stocks, bonds and mutual funds. Their offices are located in Gulfport in the Hatten Bldg. at 2314 14th Street. Phone 863-8233.

Piazza, Hawkins sparkle

Bay High, Long Beach Share Gulf Coast crown

Following the adage that there is no substitute for victory, the Bay High Tigers took firsts in 10 of 15 track and field events Wednesday to completely dominate the senior high boys' division of the Gulf Coast Conference meet at St. Stanislaus. The Long Beach squad captured the senior high girls' title while Bay High took both the boys' and girls' junior high division.

The men's victory was sweetened by the efforts of Sam Piazza and Irvin Hawkins who between them established three new conference records.

Piazza's effort of 147 feet 7 1/4 inches in the discus eclipsed his own previous mark of 143 feet 7 inches set in 1972 by more than four feet.

Hawkins had record breaking performances in both the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes. His time of :09.8 in the 100 erased the previous mark of 10.0 seconds run by Steve Allain of Bay High in 1970 and tied by Willie Thomas, also of Bay High, last year.

In the 220, his time of :22.3 seconds was enough to break the record of :22.55 set by Steve Brauckle of Notre Dame in 1969.

Bay High's total of 93 points in the men's division completely outdistanced the competition led by St. Stanislaus with 49 1-3 points for second place and Ocean Springs in third with 36 1-3 points. Long Beach finished with 27, Stone 25, and Harrison Central was last with 6 1-3 points.

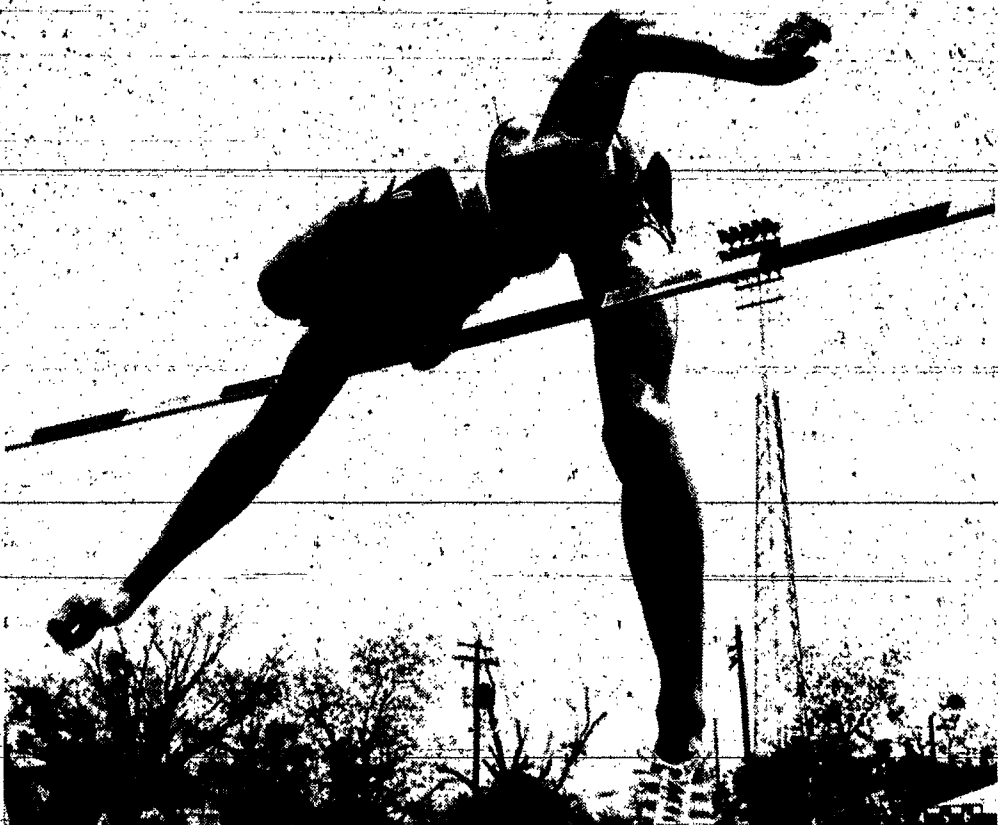

In the senior high girls' meet, Carol Fennell of Long Beach was a major factor in her team's victory as she established new marks in both the 75-yard dash and the 50-yard dash. She ran the 75-yard dash in 8.9 seconds and the 50-yard dash in 6.1 seconds.

Vanessa Labat of Bay High topped another conference record with her time of 11.5 seconds in the 100-yard dash.

The Long Beach girls accumulated 52 points while Harrison Central scored 42 and Bay High 41.

Bay Junior High won three events and placed second in five to edge Harrison Central 56 points to 51. St. Stanislaus followed with 46, Ocean Springs with 35 and Stone High with 32.

In the girls competition, Bay Junior High won over Ocean Springs 39 points to 33.

Liberty Central eclipses Tigers for South Miss. Class A title

Liberty Central picked up the points that were needed Saturday to slam the door on Bay High's hopes of a Class A title in the South Mississippi

Track meet in Jackson. Liberty Central eclipsed the Tigers 37-35 after picking up a third place in the mile relay, an event that Bay High failed to qualify in. Wilkerson Central took the girls crown with 35 points. . . enough to outclass runnerup Hazelhurst with 30. The Bay High girls team only scored one point among the stiff competition, but Coach Willie Davis' 440 relay team, which placed fifth in the event, set a new Bay High record with their time of .51.5 seconds. The previous school record was .51.7 seconds.

Sam Piazza continued his impressive string of wins in the discus breaking an eight-year-old record with a throw of 156 feet one inch to shatter the record of 150 feet nine inches set by Eddie Ray of St. Aloysius in 1966. Ed Porter of Bay High placed second in the event. Gilbert Whavers managed the only other first for Bay High with a throw of 50 feet 11 1/2 inches in the shot put.

Irvin Hawkiss narrowly failed to bring back another first for the Tigers in the 100-yard dash. Hawkins who ran the event in .09.8 in District Eight competition last week settled for a second place Saturday behind Jeff Harry of Poplarville with a time of .09.9 seconds.

Hawkins also placed third in the 220-yard dash behind Larry Harrell of Liberty Central and Harry of Poplarville. Harrell won the event with a time of .22.6 seconds after Hawkins misjudged the tape.

Other third place finishers included Albert Ellis of Pass Christian in the long jump, won by Paul Latham of South East Lauderdale who set a new record of 22' 2 1/4", and Arnold Fairconnetue of Bay

High in the pole vault. Mike Richardson rounded out the Bay team's finishes with a second in the 180 low hurdles.

The Long Beach girls 200-yard relay team won the Class AA 200-yard relay event. The team, which was made up of Carol Pennell, Kathy Cupas, Joanne Bosarge and Julia Daymond, turned in a time of .23.5 seconds. All three finishers in all events will now compete in overall state competition which will be held in Hewes Field in Jackson Saturday.

GILBERT 'JUICY' HAWVERS — threw the shot 49 feet here to win the Gulf Coast Conference title at St. Stanislaus Stadium Wednesday. Hawvers went on to take the So. Miss title also with a distance of 50 feet 11 1/2 inches. His best mark of 51 feet 9 inches broke a District 8 record in Moss Point April 25.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK — Charlie McClendon is probably one of our best salt water fishermen. He goes out just about every weekend and doesn't ever come back without a good catch. Says one of the best places to get flounders, trout and the big ones is out by Chandeleur Island. He's a generous fisherman and keeps his friends supplied.
